Anelent Auto Resembles A Dragon More Than Car

LAVANHAN, ENGLAND—A few hours after Alec Hodsdon advertised his 1901 steam-driven motor car for sale at 150 pounds ($420) a buyer telephoned that he would like to send him a check right away. But Hodsdon hesitated.

He wanted to see the buyer first to make sure he really respected and understood antiques, and besides, there was a little explaining to do.

"It has eight major knobs to push or pull, and five assorted water and pressure pumps, once you light her up with a match," he said. "It's fair to say that driving it is a whole time job. The time is never passed in boredom or preoccupation with scenery.

"Another snag is that when you light the engine, flames about a foot high, blue and intensley hot, leap from a kind of huge circular brazier. In a few minutes the heat is so great that it scorches you.

"Once lighted, there can be no hanging about. You have decided to go for a spin and you are committed to it.

"Finally, when you drive a vehicle of this kind people are apt to regard it as peculiar."

"This Christmas . . . I'll be in Hot Water!"

"NEVER let it be said that I don't love the frills and the furbelows, the gadgets and the gimmicks that are part of Christmas. Like all women, I think a Christmas gift should be gay and glamorous and have a touch of luxury about it.

"But tell me . . . is there anything more luxurious than soaking in a tub of really hot water? Is there anything nicer than taking off on a Monday because your washing's done in half the time, thanks to plenty of hot water? And if there's any more wonderful gift than everyday help with household work, I don't know what it is!

"My own personal Santa is a man who can take a hint (besides, he likes plenty of hot water for his own showers and shaving—he likes the LOW COST of electric water heating, too!) So . . . we're getting an automatic Electric Water Heater THIS Christmas . . . and I love it!"
